The Haleiwa Theatre, a Timeless Classic 1931 - 1983

buildings ever constructed in Haleiwa, the Haleiwa Theatre was a classic example of much more than just its unique art deco style. It was also a classic symbol of what was done right and what could go wrong.

The structure was designed by

One of the most magnificent become one of Hawaii's first and finest Japanese architects. To bring Fuchino's drawings to life, massive boulders in Kemoo Hills Plantation were quarried and expertly cut into twelve-inch blocks by a stonecutter from Japan. George Tanabe, the younger brother of the building's contractor Walter Tanabe, helped Hego Fuchino who left Japan for to haul the stones to Haleiwa. Hawaii as a teenager and rose to He later recalled how it took two years to accumulate enough blocks to complete construction of the theatre. The lava rock foundation was finished with a concrete face with multipaned windows and store fronts on either side of the entrance.

to dressing rooms below, the theatre could accommodate 900 people with seats on the main floor and cushioned seats in the balconies. A balcony on one side of the stage was called the Queen's Box in memory of Queen Liliuokalani. The theatre was the epicenter of entertainment for the North Shore community for half a century where families enjoyed vaudeville productions, Japanese plays, Filipino shows, Hollywood movies, concerts, and other events, bringing a touch of class and levity to plantation life.

A smaller theatre known as the Eiraku or Konno Theatre had operated on the site for twenty years previously. Haleiwa's Shimoda family resided on the third floor above the second story theatre and ran a store on the street level. They later ran the concession in the Haleiwa Theatre into the 1940s. Tomitaro Konno, the owner of the Eiraku, led a small group of investors to form the Haleiwa Theatre Company which acquired a lease on the land under the Eiraku, making way for a more modern theatre. The Haleiwa Theatre officially opened on December 15, 1931, with Konno serving as the General Manager, a position he held for decades.

The Haleiwa Theatre provided entertainment for fifty memorable years before the final curtain dropped. Trouble began with a slowdown in the movie business before shows were discontinued altogether in 1978. Then there was the impending expiration of the 50-year lease of the land under the theatre. In 1979, developer Lee Martin stepped into the picture and bought the property on an agreement of sale months before the lease expired in February of 1980. Konno and the Haleiwa Theatre Company filed for dissolution three months later.

Martin had promised to renovate the building but refused to fund any substantial repairs. The future of the theatre hung in the precarious balance between preservation and progress. With a promise that the profits would go into the remodeling of the theatre, Martin received the Neighborhood Board's approval to sell a portion of the land to the Southland Corporation. Instead, he applied for and received a demolition permit from the city. In the early morning of September 9, 1983, a demolition crew shocked the community as the historic structure began falling to the wrecking ball. Armed with a demolition permit issued in error, Martin and his crew ignored city officials' demands to stop the devastation.

Despite protections already on the books under interim development controls enacted by the City Council in 1982, the theatre was irreparably damaged due to a "procedural error" by a clerk within the Building Department unaware of a specific rule. Admitting the mistake, City officials obtained a restraining order the next day. In and out of court for the next few weeks, previously undisclosed details of the path to destruction came to light.

Determined to expose the injustice of the developer responsible for the damage, Hawaiian Airlines pilot Rick Rogers took flight. From his perch atop the rubble of the theatre, in court hearings and public meetings, Captain Haleiwa as he famously became known, insisted that the demolition permit was never properly issued and the developer needed to be held accountable. The matter was ultimately decided by a citizen panel. With no explanation for its decision, the Building Board of Appeals voted to approve the demolition, sealing the fate of the Haleiwa Theatre. On November 7, 1983, the cornerstone of the Haleiwa Special Design District was destroyed.

From the Haleiwa Special District Design Guidelines established in 1991, to the establishment of the Haleiwa Historic, Cultural and Scenic District in 1984, amended as recently as 2018, the goal has been to preserve and enhance the rural character of Haleiwa going forward. Preventing the demolition of a historic structure on private property is another matter. Had the law in existence at the time been followed and Martin's application for a demolition permit been routed for proper review by the Department of Land Utilization as required, could the theatre have been saved? We will never know, but the legacy of the Haleiwa Theatre and the valiant effort to save it from destruction sparked a movement to ensure the same bureaucratic mistake will never happen again.

The Power of Local Governance in Addressing Hawaii's Challenges

Hawaii's neighborhood boards are essential to community voice and civic engagement, giving us the power to directly influence issues that affect us all. As the 2025 Neighborhood Board Elections approach, this is your opportunity to play a part in building a brighter, more equitable, and sustainable future for Hawai'i. Neighborhood boards offer us the chance to address critical issues like corruption, climate change, and economic inequality right where we live, impacting not just our communities but the entire state.

Why Neighborhood Boards Matter to You

Neighborhood boards are about putting power in your hands. They give you a platform to discuss the specific concerns facing your neighborhood, collaborate with neighbors on solutions, and hold elected officials accountable. This level of local governance fosters transparency and trust, building a crucial buffer against corruption. When we're informed and involved, we create a built-in system of checks and balances that promotes open government and discourages unethical practices.

But neighborhood boards don't just stop at the community level. The issues we discuss in these meetings influence city and state officials. Our voices from the grassroots level can shape bigger policy discussions, ensuring that our concerns echo all the way to the legislature. This means our local governance efforts are essential not only for direct, community-level improvements but also for strengthening Hawaii's broader democratic process.

Addressing Climate Change Together, One Community at a Time

Hawai'i is feeling the effects of climate change first-hand, from rising sea levels to biodiversity loss. While statewide policies are essential, local action is a critical part of our fight against climate impacts. Through neighborhood boards, we can come together to organize local environmental efforts—whether it's waste reduction, challenging destructive development projects, advocating for green spaces, or pushing for coastal protection.

As we collaborate with local environmental groups, government agencies, and other stakeholders, we can create resilience projects designed specifically for our community. These community-driven efforts are often the front line of environmental defense and offer a model for others in Hawai'i to follow. Together, we can make our communities more sustainable, resilient, and prepared for future climate challenges.

Fighting Economic Inequality Where We Live

Economic inequality is hitting our communities hard, driving up living costs and putting housing out of reach for many. Neighborhood boards are a powerful avenue to directly address these issues in the places they impact most. When we discuss local concerns, we shed light on these inequities, creating momentum for solutions that address high costs, affordable housing, and more investment in public education so as to improve economic opportunity. Through our neighborhood boards, we can advocate for initiatives like cooperative housing, infrastructure support for small farmers, better land use ordinances, tax fairness, and community-centered workforce pathways. As representatives of our communities, we can push for policies that ensure our economic activity benefits the whole, not just those at the top. Neighborhood boards give us the platform to fight for fairer economic policies at every level, bringing the realities of our neighborhoods to state decision-makers.

COMMUNITY MEETING NOTICE

Kamehameha Highway Improvements in Hale'iwa Town (Rehabilitation of Streets, Unit 93)

Hale'iwa, Waialua District, O'ahu, Hawai'i

On behalf of the City and County of Honolulu (City), Department of Design and Construction (DDC), we invite you to attend a community meeting for the Kamehameha Highway Improvements in Hale'iwa Town ("Project"). The purpose of the meeting is to provide an overview and update of the planned improvements that will enhance pedestrian connectivity and promote an active pedestrian-oriented commercial street frontage, as well as mitigate stormwater ponding along, the Kamehameha Highway between the 'Ōpae'ula Bridge ("Twin Bridges") and Anahulu River Bridge within Hale'iwa Town. Project improvements include the repaving of the roadway, paving the shoulders with permeable concrete pavers, concrete or asphalt (based on site conditions), installation of raised curbs between the roadway and shoulders, a subdrainage system, and underground stormwater storage tanks. The Project was initially conceived of as the Hale'iwa Town Improvement District Project, which requires financial participation from abutting property owners. However, based on community input, DDC has scaled down the project and will fund the improvements as a rehabilitation of streets project through the City's Capital Improvement Program.

Aloha North Shore Community!

As we welcome November and the holiday season, I want to extend warm Thanksgiving wishes to everyone in the North Shore community. This is a time to reflect on the blessings around us and celebrate the spirit of unity that makes our community so special. May your season be filled with joy, delicious meals, and cherished moments with family and friends.

3rd Kahuku Pool Design Meeting

On October 29, our office joined the Department of Parks and Recreation, G70, and community members at Kahuku Elementary School for the third design meeting for the Kahuku Pool project. This meeting presented a consolidated draft reflecting input from previous sessions, with an emphasis on community collaboration to shape the vision for Kahuku District Park. Together with the City and design partner, G70, attendees discussed priorities for the park's future, centering on the pool and its infrastructure. It was encouraging to see the enthusiasm from the community as we move toward the 30% design completion milestone.

Exploring Camp Pūpūkea

At the end of October, I had the privilege of touring Camp Pūpūkea, a hidden gem nestled in Pūpūkea and the home base of Scouting America's Aloha Council. Serving nearly 4,000 Scouts, the Aloha Council offers programs such as Cub Scouts, Scouts BSA, Sea Scouts, Venturing, and Exploring. Camp Pūpūkea provides a beautiful setting for youth development and hosts annual summer and winter camps, fostering skills, camaraderie, and memorable experiences. It was inspiring to see the profound impact of Scouting America's programs on our local youth.

Sunset Beach Comfort Station Renovations

The Department of Parks and Recreation completed renovations to the Sunset Beach Neighborhood Park comfort station as part of DPR's ongoing Kākou for Parks initiative to revitalize popular facilities. Since 2015, DPR has renovated 167 comfort stations across Oʻahu. Mahalo, DPR!

Leilehua Centennial Homecoming Parade

This year marks a historic milestone, as it's been 100 years since Leilehua's last parade in 1924. The celebration on October 18 honored the school's rich history and community connections, thanks to groups like the Leilehua Alumni and Community Association, Ryugen Taiko, and Wahiawā Lions. We're also grateful to the Honolulu Police Department, the Department of Transportation, and all the students, faculty, and community partners who made this parade truly memorable.

Policy Updates

As a reminder, bills require three readings at a full Council meeting to be passed and sent to the Mayor for signing into law.

Bill 22 (2024): Last month, the City Council passed Bill 22, which proposed legalizing certain fireworks, despite my vote against the measure due to concerns about wildfire risks. The bill was vetoed by the Mayor for safety reasons. At this month's full Council meeting, the Council considered an override but ultimately decided against it, heeding concerns shared by many residents about the measure's potential impacts.

Bill 64 (2023): A continuation of what was previously Bill 10, this bill reviews and updates the City's Land Use Ordinance (LUO). Councilmember Esther Kia'āina, chair of the Planning & Economy Committee, has guided discussions through various land uses, including industrial, commercial, residential, public, civic, and institutional. The bill passed its second reading at the full Council meeting this month.

Bill 59 (2024): Chair Tommy Waters and I introduced Bill 59 to reduce single-use plastic containers at City facilities and events, addressing plastic waste issues. The bill targets containers under one liter, which are common in street litter and ocean pollution, and harmful to wildlife. Given Hawai'i's low recovery rates for plastic bottles, this measure encourages alternatives like aluminum or glass. The bill passed its first reading at the full Council meeting this month.

Mahalo for staying connected with us at the Council. I hope your November is filled with gratitude and meaningful connections.

Neighborhood Board Meetings #27 Next Meeting: January 28, 2025

4th Tuesday of Every Month - 7pm at Waialua Elementary School Cafeteria 67-020 Waialua Beach Rd.

Dear Doctor, "What diet do you recommend?"

That's a tricky question! It depends on your goals, such as weight loss, improved cholesterol levels, improved diabetes levels, prevention of diabetes, or improved blood pressure. Type any of the names below into an internet search engine, and the details of each diet should appear. The listed diets below all have good data behind them!

We usually recommend the DASH diet for high blood pressure. This diet is low in saturated and trans fat, low in sodium (as low as 1,500mg/day!), and rich in potassium, calcium, magnesium, fiber, and protein. Interestingly, a diet containing four tablespoons of flaxseeds has been found to reduce systolic blood pressure by up to 10 points!

The Mediterranean Diet and Dean Ornish's "Nutrition Spectrum Reversal Guidelines" are good options for reversing and preventing heart disease. These diets focus on lots of vegetables, fruit, beans, lentils, and nuts and limit the intake of red meat and sweets.

There are numerous options for patients with diabetes or prediabetes, but they all usually boil down to limiting carbohydrate intake. Carbohydrates are foods like rice, bread, noodles, and sweets. The 5:2 Diet has been found to induce remission of diabetes in 20% of patients, help lower body and liver fat, and is seemingly less aggressive than the intermittent fasting diet. One large study even found that initiating a low carbohydrate diet within the first year of being diagnosed with diabetes resulted in remission in 70% of patients!

Although most patients view us as "legal drug dealers," in reality, lifestyle interventions (aka no medications!) are critical to the prevention and often treatment of most chronic medical conditions we see in primary care.

Little Known North Shore Historic Hotels

By Boyd Ready, Local Historian

The former Haleiwa Hotel is well known. Less so were the 'Seaside Hotel,' the 'Doi Hotel,' the 'Fujita Hotel,' and the large hotel at the Kahuku Marconi Transmitter. All were accessible by railroad. Let us focus on two of these.

The 'Seaside' hotel that the Jodo Mission bought for a temple and school in 1913, started out as the 'Waialua Beach Hotel.' Twelve rooms, sea breezes and sea bathing, fine food, and a wine cellar that 'never runs out' was advertised in 1901-1903. It was right near the Waialua Train Station (near today's Ali'I Beach Park, at the south end). Compared to the $4.00 per night at the Haleiwa Hotel, the fee of $2.50 per night was more reasonable. The hotel had cash flow problems though. The Haleiwa Hotel attracted most of the well-heeled clientele. A few honeymooners and other travelers proved not enough: it had its furnishing nearly repossessed in 1902, and then it was foreclosed upon in 1903 by Lewers and Cooke, Ltd., who put it up for sale. Little is known after that until 1913 when the enterprising Rev. Jitsujyo Muroyama and his congregation went door to door on horseback and raised $1,500 to buy it. The Haleiwa Jodo Mission continues today, 111 years later, and is well known island wide for the annual floating lantern ceremony in Waialua's calm midsummer waters. It was placed on the Historic Registers in 2019.

Who knew there was a hotel at the Marconi Transmitter site in Kahuku? The huge doublebacked-up, steam-powered generators and giant 'spark' transmitter, with 500-foot-tall steel masts and guidewires required a hundred employees to operate. It took nine 'riggers' to keep the masts secured and painted every six months against salt corrosion. The hotel had twelve rooms, a library, reading room, kitchen, and servants' quarters. There were six remnant buildings on the Kahuku site when it went on the National Register in 2012. The hotel was in good enough condition for restoration or adaptive re-use. A similar hotel at the Marconi 1914 facility on Koko Head is still in use as the Lunalilo Trust care home. Adaptive re-use is the key to preserving our historic buildings!

Football - The World's First Language

Nelson Mandela said, "Sport has the power to unite in a way that little else does. It speaks to youth in a language they understand." The non profit soccer and leadership program, Malama Football Club has partnered with The HOAPILI youth to unite a group of soccer enthusiasts who are going through their own mental and physical challenges.

Do you want to know their secrets to living a good life? Coach Chuck caught up with a few of them, and here is what they said - Big Frank Jr says, "Ooooohh, OH! OH my secret is to make good friends, and have NO crushes, and eat apples everyday and ALLLLLL the other kinds of fruits that I like. My Papa tells me to STAY GROOVY and my grandma Silinga says "ALWAYS BE KIND AND BE FRIENDS." Our fastest footballer Maddy advises, "It's not about winning or losing, it's about having fun and being together! That way we all win. Soccer has taught me to work together as a team and to have fun!" Our famous footballer Briar, who loves seeing her friends at soccer practice said, "The secret to a good life is to love Jesus, and play & watch sports!"

What an unrivaled group of athletes! A sincere thank you to our sponsors - Dave's Ice Cream for hosting our Ice cream party, McGee's Stamp & Trophy for donating our Trophies, Soccer Locker Hawaii for the donated gear, and Aaron the DJ from DJ's of Hawaii for throwing us a dance party. ### SUNSET WAVE, DA BOSS

Luke Tema is now number one after an amazing victory at Sunset's proving ground. A substantial swell came in with perfect harmony for the Hawaiian Islands's Sunset Pro. The conditions ranged from 6-12 feet and super windy conditions for the event. Tema handled it all clinching the title with a last wave scored at 8.35 out of ten in the final. "I had a lot of close heats but I'm stoked to come out on top", said Tema. "I thought I was done when I got the worst of the first exchange but then that 8 came at the end.." Tema beat last year's winner Shion Crawford who almost pulled off a back to back title. It was the case for the women also. Tomoda-Bannert was strong all finals day and almost pulled out that back to back win. It was Hawaiian Eweleiula Wong who outsmarted the final 4 by great positioning! "My coach said get two 8's." She said after the win. "I hardly surf Sunset, I'm stoked to have won... hopefully I'll prequalify for the Challenger Series next year." The Women are surfing the Supergirl Pro in Florida as the men wait for the next opportunity at Haleiwa. The World Surf League 2025 season starts at Pipeline in January. Hawaii's Jackson Bunch has qualified for the top tour along with Tahiti's Vahine Fierro. Tahiti is combined with our Hawaii district.

WING FOILING TAKES OFF

Looking at the ocean you might have noticed a rider holding onto a sail and riding waves. Yes wing foiling is taking off. According to Wing Foil Magazine the sport started around 1980 but it was Hawaii's Kai Lenny who made the ride popular with a viral video. Cash Berzolla, 18, an American surfer is now the top rated athlete. We also have a Hawaiian wahine competing, Moona Whyte she can ride anything! The World Champion kitesurfer is rated 6th in foiling. We will keep an eye on Patagonia team rider Whyte's accomplishments. Go Hawaii!

BODYBOARDER HONORED AS HAWAII WATERMAN

The Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation has honored Kanesa Duncan Seraphin an 8 time World Champion paddleboarder at the M2O paddleboard race. Seraphin is also an avid bodyboarder who has competed at Pipeline many times. Beyond her accolades in paddleboarding, Kanesa has made significant strides in marine science education. As a Professor and Director at the University of Hawai'i Sea Grant Center for Marine Science Education, she is dedicated to nurturing a deeper understanding of ocean ecosystems among students and the general public. Her innovative teaching methods and dynamic outreach programs engage learners of all ages, emphasizing the critical importance of preserving marine environments. Congratulations Kanesa!

A Heartwarming Thanksgiving Story

A blind boy sat on the steps of a building with a hat by his feet. He held up a sign which read "I am blind," please help.

There were only a few coins in his hat.

A man was walking by. He took a few coins from his pocket and dropped them into the hat. He then took the sign, turned it around, and wrote some words. He put the sign back so that everyone who walked by would see the new words.

Soon the hat began to fill up. A lot more people were giving money to the blind boy. That afternoon the man who changed the sign came to see how things were.

The boy recognized the footsteps and asked, "Were you the one who changed my sign this morning? What did you write?"

The man said, "I only wrote the truth, I said what you said in a different way." I wrote: "Today is a beautiful day but I cannot see it."

Both signs told the people that the boy was blind. The second sign told people that they were so lucky that they were not blind. Should we be surprised that the second sign was more effective?

Moral of the story: Be thankful for what you have. Be creative. Be innovative. Think differently and positively. When life gives you 100 reasons to cry, show life that you have 1000 reasons to smile. Face your past without regret. Handle your present with confidence. Prepare for the future without fear. Keep the faith.

The most beautiful thing is to see a person smiling. And even more beautiful, is knowing that you are the reason behind it!

Happy Thanksgiving! Anonymous

Dear Editor:

Regarding Development across from Shark's Cove

I am in favor of having a First Responders' Center between Hale'iwa and Kahuku mostly because of the need for an ambulance and the Laniākea traffic mess. On average, it takes about 40 minutes to travel from Pūpūkea to Hale'iwa now when it used to take 15 minutes. This delay could mean someone's life.

However, I am not in favor of taking the only commercially zoned property in Sunset to do this. Instead, we should use the former Obayashi land next to the Sunset Beach Elementary School that the City already owns. It would be foolish and fiscally irresponsible for the City to pay millions of dollars for the Shark's Cove development land when it has a piece of property across from 'Ehukai Beach Park.

Let's stick to the current 2010 North Shore Sustainable Communities Plan that calls for a rural shopping center that serves the residents. This will be closer to Sunset Beach residents, more convenient, and alleviate some of the traffic to and from Hale'iwa. Runoff catchment can be planned in the design and mitigated to protect Shark's Cove. We should hold the developer to the plan by having businesses that serve residents rather than visitors.

100 Smiles of Margaretta Nelson Celebrating her 100th Birthday

On October 17, 2024, long time resident Greta Nelson of Waialua celebrated her 100th birthday with many of her friends and her children Ben, Stan and Nancy, and five grandchildren who traveled from Massachusetts, Arizona and Utah.

Life has never been dull for Greta.

In the 1940's she became an open cockpit airplane pilot entering races, doing spins and occasionally buzzing Franklin Stadium during the University of Pennsylvania football games.

During WWII, Greta volunteered driving trucks at Willow Grove Naval Air Station while our armed services were fighting in the Pacific.

Greta has always been active in sports: tennis, golf, fishing, hunting and she was nationally ranked in squash.

Growing up in Pennsylvania, Greta always dreamed of moving West. In 1961 she moved the family to Scottsdale. When that area became too crowded they went to Pinetop, Arizona in the White Mountains at 7000 ft. where the occasional bear broke into her birdfeeders. Rattle snakes were not so welcome with Greta killing more than fifty during her years in Arizona.

Greta was an active and valued member of the North Shore Outdoor Circle and for many years she was often seen pulling weeds along the Sunset Beach Bike Path.

She still maintains her own home and until recently she could be seen walking her Waialua neighborhood.

We look forward to Greta's 101st birthday. Until then you can catch a glimpse of her at Haleiwa Joes on Mondays with her son, Stan.
